Dear our newest investigator,

Welcome to Galactic News, we are so happy to have you on board. I am aware that you only just joined us, but we already have an assignment for you.

The Atlas Project seems to have had a murder on board one of its research ships, and we need to get the story out by tomorrow. It has been reported that Captain Jordan has been killed in suspicious circumstances. We have access to all the investigation files, but the authorities have yet to release the results of their investigation.

Get to the bottom of this, so we can get this story out there. Just find out the Suspect, the Motive and the Method.

Feel free to work with other investigators. Your notebook is in the brown folder along with some other useful materials you may find helpful.

Once the results are revealed when your investigation is over, we can compare - and this will determine if you keep your job or not. No pressure.

Good Luck!

Head Investigator, Abby Williams

When you think you have things solved, write it down here so we can get it to our writers and editors. Don't forget to include your evidence. Good Luck!
